Masts are safe. We are safer with a good phone signal. I hope the parish council and other residents will support more coverage with discretely positioned masts	1
Residents should change to O2 and get good coverage but it should be done for emergency services use in particular.	1
I would support a mast, BUT, it would have to be carefully considered about its location so as not to interfere with the picturesque views around the village.	1
O2 used to have reasonable coverage in our postcode area (others had next to none). For nearly a year now, that has severely weakened to point can't use phone - the O2 signal also very weak in Southam now	1
Well Napton definitely needs an improvement with mobile network, I've tried 2 different networks, both having poor signal or none at all. It would depend on where the proposed mast site would be, hopefully somewhere agreeable to all locals.	1
Depends where it is.	1
Long overdue	1
Coverage varies throughout the village. At home address performance has improved but is not reliable. At the Village Hall performance is poor at best but generally non-existent	1
The mobile signal in Napton is at best poor, non-existent in areas of the village anything that can be done to improve things must be a good thing and should be grabbed with both hands. Given copper telephone lines becoming obsolete, the mobile phone signal in the village becomes even more important	1
I would prefer it is not located in residential areas. Top of the hill by the church seems a sensible location. Please can it cover the Folly Pub, The Cidery and "Chapel Green" which are all just outside the main residential hub of the village of Napton.	1
There are masts on the horizon looking South from Napton. Towards Priors Marston. Rather than build more utilise those. The mast you propose is ugly and does not fit in with the countryside	1
Mobile network is Utility Warehouse. I support a new mast subject to location.	1

Provided the mast wasn't too ugly or visible I may support the idea of a new mast	1
